Premise

This is the story of Fazia, who stole a map of the mythical Puzzle Canal from adventurers returning from the Big Rubble. But stealing from thieves isn't really stealing, right?

This is the story of Irinus, a Lunar army decurion who caught her red-handed. Having come to shine in the desolate lands of Prax, what better than to hunt down the magical secrets of the Scholars of the Ambiguous? And since he has no trustworthy wizards at hand, he takes Fazia aboard, who demonstrated her scholarship skills to him. Thanks, Dad the antiquarian.

But he also needs arms to row and to fend off the dangers of the Big Rubble. Slaves and hoplites are not lacking, but to lead the boats he stopped and threatened Duckita, a stubborn duck. What he doesn't know is that for her, going with him into the Puzzle Canal doesn't displease her in her anti-Yelm quest. Opposites sometimes find common ground, don't they?

Oh, I almost forgot, it's also the story of Korlanth called Lucky, who is currently rotting in a Lunar prison following a brawl in a Pavis inn where he reportedly made outright revolutionary remarks, which he takes with optimism since it is his destiny.

The heroes

- Irinus Solantis, Dara Happan decurion
- Fazia Hanout, young rogue scholar
- Duckita, Durulz, Shadow Swimmer
- Korlanth Lucky, young Orlanthe

The others

They are gathered in a glossary in alphabetical order.

The heroes

Duckita

“Could be scary if it weren’t a duck”

Figure 2. Duckita

- Durulz duck, “old”, indeterminate age
- Standard of living: poor
- Equipment: feather fetishes

Runes

- Moody
- Perched
- Lives by night

- Hear, feel the spirit world
- Negotiate with and fight spirits

- Travel in spirit

- Slip into the night
- Sinister
- “See” in the dark
- Summon a shadow

Durulz of the Dragon Pass

- Virtues: survive, distrust of humans, pride despite the curse

Shadow Swimmer

- Slip through fingers
- Very good hearing
- Bargain with spirits
- Appear harmless
- Virtues: explore the shadows to lift the Durulz curse, patience, discretion

Wonders of the Shadow Swimmer

- Imprison a spirit in a feather
- Summon a shadow
- Travel in spirit
- Weakness: sensitive to light — she lives by night
- Relations:
 - Hatred of Yelmites

Hooded duck with dark plumage, Duckita flees the anti-Durulz persecution of the Dragon Pass: her clan was decimated. She learned the basics of the Shadow Swimmer from the clan’s teacher, killed during the battle, who saved her so that the tradition could continue. Sinister, she lives by night, surrounded by her feather fetishes.

Fazia Hanout

“Stealing from a thief isn’t theft, is it?”

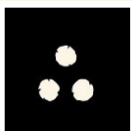

Figure 3. Fazia

- Woman, 20 years old
- Standard of living: average
- Equipment: books and scholar's gear, burglar tools (picks, rope, pliers)

Runes

- Blend into the crowd
- Erase one's tracks
- Perfect hiding place
- Perfect theft

- Unrecognizable mask
- Conceal the truth
- Lie with conviction
- Hide an object

- Selfish
- Resourceful
- Persuade
- Steal from a thief

Pavisite

- Rogue scholar
- Bookworm
- Meticulous
- Knowledge of Pavis and the Old Town
- Virtues: independence, resourcefulness, merchant spirit, distrust of the Lunar Empire

Initiate of the Grand Mystery

(Thieves' cult of Pavis)

- Daring move
- Virtues: absolute discretion, never betray the Mystery, steal from thieves, the ends justify the means
- Relations:
 - Her father Hamar, antiquarian of the Old Town
 - Tuck, her contact in the Grand Mystery

Spells of the Initiate of the Grand Mystery

- Blend into the crowd
- Unrecognizable mask
- Erase one's tracks
- Conceal the truth
- Hide an object
- Perfect hiding place
- Perfect theft

Well-educated, playful and lively, Fazia is the daughter of Hamar, an antiquarian of the Old Town. A bit of a thief on the side, she hides her membership of the Grand Mystery — punishable by the cutting off of the hand and banishment under Pavisite law, and Lunar law too — but for how long?

Irinus Solantis

“Organized war with rules, not butchery”

Figure 4. Irinus

- Man, 30 years old
- Standard of living: average
- Equipment: the danger ring

Runes

- Thoughtful
- Man of duty
- Personal discipline

- Merciless
- Intimidating
- Organize a plan

- Organized war with rules, not butchery

Dara Happan

Decurion

- Knowledge of Dara Happan culture
- Celestial Pantheon (Yelm)
- Squad tactics and command
- Marching in step / formation warfare
- Virtues: honor, duty, obedience, loyalty to the Empire, order and discipline
- Relations:
 - Family honor
 - Defense of the Empire's interests

Initiate of Urvairinus the Conqueror

- Virtues: organized war with rules, not butchery, merciless toward the enemies of Dara Happa, command

Light of Action

- Courage
- Demoralize the enemy
- March in step
- Several attacks in one

Military Strategy

- Manage food supplies
- Persuade the inhabitants
- Enlist an army
- Send battle orders

Fighting the enemies of Dara Happa (Yelm)

- Trolls
- Undead
- Chaos... and Orlanthi rebels

- Being everywhere on the battlefield
- Ultimate command (even over enemies)

Born into an old military family. Sent to Prax to shine.

Korlanth Lucky

“I believe in my Destiny”

- Man, 20 years old
- Standard of living: poor
- Equipment: construction tools and training weapons

Runes

- Rebel
- Act with energy
- Freedom

- Fast
- Surprise the opponent
- Flight
- Storm Runner

- Lucky
- Attract coincidences
- Attract sympathy
- Believe in one's Destiny

Sartarite Exile

- Young rebel
- Jack-of-all-trades (building sites, odd jobs, marauding)
- Weapon training
- Teachings of the Secret Wind
- Virtues: courage, freedom, solidarity, resistance to the Lunars
- Relations:
 - The Secret Wind
 - His family
 - Hatred of the Lunars

Initiate of Orlanth

(Storm Pantheon)

- Virtues: act with energy, surprise the opponent, fight the Lunars

Spells of the Initiate of Orlanth

- Regain one's breath, instill courage
- Prepare thunderstones (noise and confusion)
- Prepare woad (bare-fist combat)
- Yavor, the lightning spear
- Flight
- Cloak of mist
- Storm Runner

- Spear Rider

Son of Orlanthi immigrants who came to Pavis after the defeat against the Lunar Empire, Korlanth is a jack-of-all-trades (building sites, odd jobs, marauding...). He trains with weapons with his friends and follows the teachings of the Secret Wind, which he has never betrayed. He believes in his Destiny.
